Property Disaster Damage Restoration Company

Utah Flood Cleanup offers both commercial and residential restoration services. Our team of fire or flooding clean up specialists performs all building restoration work, from the cleanup to the decontamination to repairs and replacement of all structural and finish components in the impacted areas of the property. Some of the essential services our disaster restoration company offerZ for your North Ogden, Utah home or business include:

Water Damage Restoration

Interior flooding of a home or business can be due to one of several causes: storm damage, a broken old or frozen pipe, an appliance malfunction, or a backed-up sewage line. Flooding in a home or commercial building can quickly damage or destroy support structures, flooring, doors, window frames, staircases, electrical wiring, HVAC equipment, appliances and other building contents.

Our water damage restoration company provides the area's best experts to assess your disaster cleanup and damage restoration needs and promptly execute initial measures to begin managing the rehabilitation of your property from the disaster.

Fire Damage Restoration

Business and house fires cause millions of dollars worth of damage every year in the United States. The damage from such events is typically too much to overcome without professional intervention by a fire and smoke damage restoration company. Soot damage and inevitable mold infestation compound the cleanup obstacles. We provide remedial applications where DIY is too dangerous or cannot be effective.

We respond quickly to secure the property and begin structural drying processes and disaster cleanup. We perform mold abatement to eliminate the mold brought on by water use to fight the fire. We will ultimately restore your property to its pre-disaster condition. Our fire damage restoration company uses state-of-the-art disaster site rehabilitation equipment, tools, and materials to clean, decontaminate, dry, and restore damaged structures and building contents.

Sewage Damage Restoration

Even clean water flooding your home or workplace can be a disaster of major proportions. But, the health hazard inherent in sewage water flood flooding is a much more extreme degree of residential disaster. Black water flowing backward through the drains in your house carries many of the world's most dangerous bacterial contaminants. After the thorough sewage cleanup and decontamination, you can expect to find extensive water damage, and, of course, mold infestation.

Utah Flood Cleanup disaster cleanup and restoration specialists provide urgent response and launch an exceptional process for methodical, meticulous sewage cleanup and decontamination, thorough structural drying, and comprehensive property restoration.

Mold Damage Restoration

Mold growth can be expected after flooding or a fire in a home or business building. Whether it is caused by a leaking pipe, a collapsed roof, emergency sprinklers, or firefighters, it may be too complicated to cover absolutely all the hidden areas where mold is sure to reappear and spread again without professional mold abatement.

Our certified mold removal specialists know how to eliminate mold and prevent its reemergence. Left unabated, an extreme mold infestation can seriously impact human health and a home's structural strength. Utah Flood Cleanup mold experts use the best commercial equipment, tools, and chemical solutions for effective mold removal and prevention of re-infestation.
