What is Considered Storm Damage?

In the state of Utah, residents need to be aware of and prepared for major weather systems that can cause storm damage and in some areas flooding from rapid snowmelt that can inundate some locations with water from swollen rivers and lakes. More commonly, it is flash flooding from violent storms which produce torrential rainfall in a short amount of time or slow-moving thunderstorms that overwhelm the city's storm drainage systems. The resulting damage to your home can be substantial, as rapidly rising water can reach heights of 3 feet or more. Other causes of storm damage:

- Flooding
- Heavy Rainfall
- Snow
- High Winds
- Lightning
- Mudslides

Storm Damage Cleanup and Restoration Process: What We Do and Why

Water damage to the interior and/or exterior of homes can result from ice damming, storms, burst pipes, and run-off flooding. Our company specializes in two professional services which will allow homeowners to reclaim unsafe and damaged living spaces due to storm waters:

1. Home Remediation – Removing black mold and other forms of mold from homes, including visual inspection, testing, decontamination, and disinfection.
2. Structural Restoration – Water damage restoration using specialized equipment and skilled technicians to complete dry homes including inspection to determine the source of water, removing standing floodwater, applying an antimicrobial solution, and using industrial air movers and dehumidifiers to evaporate water and to dry the home's structure.

Keep in mind, if the carpet in your home has dried, this is not an indication that your home has overcome water damage. Most of the time carpet dries before any other building materials. The only true way to tell if something is to dry standard is to use moisture meters.

As a legitimate mitigation company in Utah, we use Xactimate estimating software which is mandated by insurance companies nationwide.
